Periphery Wax

Applications:
Periphery Wax sticks can be used with all types of impression materials for making wax stops, post-damming and lining the periphery of trays. It is a soft and tacky wax that is easily shaped at room temperature.
Block out undercuts associated with large gingival embrasures, implant bars, precision attachments or fixed partial denture pontics during impression taking procedures and during laboratory.

Characteristics

- High melting point
- Self-adhesive
- No need to warm up
- Minimum tissue displacement
- Soft enough to be easily handled but won't warp at hydrocolloid temperatures
- Available in handy packs of 60 pieces.
